

MEMBERS' RIGHTS NOTICE

Rights to receive or not receive, certain formal company documents concerning the club. (Section 110K Corporations Act)

Every member has rights under the corporations legislation to make choices by notice in writing to the club in relation to how they receive certain formal company documents that the club issues from time to time.

The club will usually send or provide formal company documents like notices of meeting, to members in electronic form where an electronic address is held, or otherwise by post.

The club will usually provide a link to access copies of annual reports and financial statements and not usually distributed those.

Members have the right to choose to be sent certain formal company documents in physical form - Sections 110E and 110J; also 316A(3).

Members have the right to choose to be sent certain formal company documents in electronic form - Sections 110E and 110J.

Members have the right to choose not to be sent any documents that are prescribed for this purpose in regulations under the legislation - Section 110E. At the date of this notice there are no documents prescribed for this purpose.

Under the legislation the club is obliged to give notice of members' meetings to all members and there is no provision to opt out – section 249J.

On behalf of the Board.
